TENNIS LIVELY SPORT IN
BISMARCK LAST SEASON

The last year has been the liveliest in the history of tennis in Bismarck. Early in the spring the Country club courts were constantly in use and, owing to their construction being made of asphalt, no work was necessary to put them in first-class playing condition.

While no celebrated stars entered any of the tournaments as in some of the former years, the players were among the best in the state and the number entering the various tournaments the largest.

The first tournament of the season was the Round Robin Mixed Doubles, held Memorial Day. This event was won by Mrs. Phil Myers and G. H. Russ, Jr., who thereby became the owners of the brass candlestick presented by Knowles & Hancy.

The big tournament came next and the week of August 7 witnessed the Missouri Slope and Western North Dakota championships. Over 30 entered in these events and the play was fast. This Missouri Slope Singles championship was won by Rev. B. E. Jackson of Bismarck, who, on his way to the finals, defeated Behrbaum, Convert, Messner, Trousdale and Wernli, the 1915 champion, and will hold the Penn Rubber company's cup until 1917. Partnered with G. H. Russ, Jackson also won the Missouri Slope Doubles, with the Co. Little cup as the prize, defeating on the way up Harmsen and Wernli, he 1914 Missouri Slope winners, and Behrbaum and Blank, the 1915 Western North Dakota champions.

H. F. Knopp of LaMoure won the Western North Dakota Singles, defeating Jackson in the finals in an exciting four set match, which was anybody's until the last point was won.

Knopp and Jackson won the Western North Dakota Doubles title, although Baker and Russ all but put them out of the running in the semifinals. The cups for these two events were given by the Bismarck Commercial club. On Labor Day another Mixed Doubles Round Robin tournament was played. Mrs. E. A. Hughes and Benton Baker won this tournament without the loss of a set. The City and Country Club championships began in September. B. E. Jackson won the City event and the president's cup, by defeating Yokohama in the finals, and Johnson and Russ among others on the way.

The Country Club championship was won by G. Russ, Jr., with the Alex McKenzie cup as the trophy. Russ defeated Wm. Behrbaum in the finals, Behrbaum having previously eliminated Baker and Jackson on his way to the finals.

August 26 the tennis team, consisting of Jackson, Russ, Baker and Johnson, journeyed to Jamestown, where they defeated the Jamestown club, the Bismarck players won all four singles matches and Jackson and Russ and Baker and Johnson, playing as doubles teams, won their matches also, giving Bismarck a clean sweep.

In the spring it is hoped to arrange more of these inter-city contests, as they promote considerable interest in the game.

The prospects for 1917 are unusually bright, more people are playing tennis every year and the tournaments next summer will probably be longer than this year's were.

In spite of her advanced years, Mrs. Lockwood still is active in public matters and is now assisting Robert Goldsmith in preparing a handbook treatise on the peace movement for the League to Enforce Peace. Her birthday wish was that she can live to attend the meeting of the league in Washington next May.

which is to bring delegates from all the nations of the world.

Margaret Deland, whose interest this summer has been divided between preparing for press her new novel, "The Rising Tide," and her work for the Author's Fund for the Relief of the Allied Wounded, has issued a statement in regard to the second distribution of the money collected. Two hundred dollars were given to the Serbian Distress fund for use in Serbian hospitals; a like sum went to the Boston headquarters of the American fund for the French Wounded; and one hundred dollars each went to Miss Holt in Paris, for the work of the Permanent Blind Fund in France, to the special American Hospital in Paris for Wounds of the Face and Jaw, and to the American Clearing House for use in the Italian hospitals.
